Ralph and Georgina are in their early seventies and are raising their two grandchildren after their daughter passed away from cancer.

The boys are having a difficult time adjusting to the loss of their mother.

This past Thanksgiving, Ralph reached out to Helping Hands North Inc. because they had no extra money for the holidays.

Within a few days they were provided a huge Thanksgiving dinner and a hundred dollars towards more groceries.

As winter stretched on, one of the boys needed boots and mittens, and those were purchased for him as well through Helping Hands.

For Christmas, their family was provided with another nice meal and more funds for food.

To top off this family's year, one of Helping Hand's customers heard of the family's story and donated two hundred dollar to the boys on the spot. She then called and wanted the dates of their birthdays, and told them if they got good grades, she would give them a hundred dollars each, every year until they graduate.
